Foreword

Memorial books originated from lists compiled by medieval Jewish communities to commemorate the victims of the persecution of Jews. They contained the names of victims of persecution, of deserving members of their own community, and a collection of prayers for the memory of the dead. This memorial book continues this tradition of memorial books. It is intended to commemorate all Jews from Ichenhausen who fell victim to the Nazi regime:

- around 125 people deported and murdered from Ichenhausen to Piaski, Theresienstadt and Auschwitz
- to the 36 Ichenhausen residents who could not escape the clutches of National Socialism even by fleeing to the hoped-for anonymity of the big cities and emigrating to neighboring countries, and were deported to various other places by
- to the 53 people who have moved to other places and whose further fate remains unknown
- to the 49 people who, also victims of numerous Nazi harassment, died in Ichenhausen between January 1933 and March 1943
- to the two people who were murdered in the course of the so-called "euthanasia" program
- to the 172 people who were often only able to save their lives by emigrating.

Sources

The basis for compiling the memorial book was the Ichenhausen residents' registration file. For the period from approximately 1900 to 1943, it proved to be the most comprehensive, complete, and reliable source. A separate file card was kept for each resident registered with the city, which generally contained the following information:
First name, maiden name, title (if applicable), occupation, marital status, nationality, religion/denomination, date of birth, place of birth, names of parents, residence in Ichenhausen.
In parallel with the resident registration cards, the older family status forms were processed. This historically more in-depth source group, which essentially contains the same information as the registration cards, is ideally suited for complementary and corrective reading due to its different structure. The marital status forms, dating from approximately 1840 to approximately 1920, are based on the family affiliation of each individual. A form was created for each family under the name of the father. The wife and children were listed as family members on the family founder's form, but did not have their own.
The advantage of this source is obvious: larger family relationships can be recorded more quickly and easily than with the residents' registration file.
Reading the years 1926, 1930 and 1938 of the address book of the Günzburg District Office (Günzburg City Archives) offered further opportunities for additions and corrections.

Some statistical information

The analysis of sources reveals that 437 Jews were registered in Ichenhausen between January 30, 1933, the beginning of the Nazi dictatorship, and March 8, 1943, the day of the last deportation.

- Of the 437 Jews, 254 were women and 183 were men. 260 of them were born in Ichenhausen, and 177 came from other places.
- 49 Jewish people died in Ichenhausen during the period studied, 32 of whom were also born there.
- 161 people were deported to concentration camps: 125 from Ichenhausen and 36 from other locations. The deportations from Ichenhausen took place on April 1, 1942, August 6, 1942, and March 8, 1943.
- Two Jewish women from Ichenhausen were taken to hospitals where they were murdered as part of the so-called "euthanasia" program.
- 53 moved to other places in the former German Reich, where their trace is lost.
- 172 succeeded in emigrating, mostly to the USA, but also to Palestine, South America, England, Australia, China and South Africa.

The age distribution of the deportees differs considerably from that of the emigrants. The clear peak of the age curve of the deportees is in the 50-70 age group, while among the emigrants, the 15-30 age group predominates, closely followed by the 30-50 age group.

Age distribution of the 161 deportees:
1-15 years: 14
15-30 years: 23
30-50 years: 36
50-70 years: 70
over 70 years: 18

Age distribution of the 172 emigrants:
1-15 years: 30
15-30 years: 54
30-50 years: 44
50-70 years: 38
over 70 years: 6

Structure of the memorial book

A page was dedicated to each Jew registered in Ichenhausen between January 30, 1933, and March 8, 1943, regardless of the length of their stay. The available information on each individual is presented in the following order:

- Surname; first name; maiden name.
- Date of birth; place of birth; if applicable, country, administrative district and county; father's name and occupation; mother's name including maiden name.

- Date of death (if applicable).
- Profession.
- Wife's first and maiden name; date of marriage.
- Names of the children, with brief additions if necessary.
- Names of siblings, with further information if applicable.
- Date of arrival; previous place of residence.
- Apartments in Ichenhausen.
- Other social data, e.g. club membership, political offices, honorary positions, etc.
- Proven persecution harassment by the Nazis.
- Day of deportation, emigration, departure.

The information on each individual should be as comprehensive as possible. Despite intensive searches for sources, however, information beyond personal details and residence details could rarely be obtained, and in many cases, even this was not available.

This documentation should therefore not be considered complete. Rather, it is intended to have the character of an open, living book, inviting the knowledgeable reader to share their memories of one or another of his life's fates.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank all those who helped in the search for clues:
Mrs. Brigitte Schmidt from the Munich City Archives, Mr. Moritz Schmid from Ichenhausen for his time and energy, as well as all former Ichenhausen Jews and their relatives who, in sometimes extensive correspondence, shed light on many fates with valuable information.
